CENSUS CLEANINGS

Varying Experiences of Enumerators Employed.

The staff of census enumerators numbered 4,300. These had to traverse the immense area of Canada by every imaginable method of locomotion. A steamer with enumerators on board traversed the deep inlets of the Pacific coast lines as far as Alaska, thence to Queen Charlotte's Islands to enumerate the people. Pack horses were required in the mountain region of the same province to carry enumerators and their portfolios through the valleys which run among the hills of the Rockies. Dog trains were necessary in Saskatchewan to obtain the population of the northern slope from the height of land. In Ontario and Quebec a canoe expedition started from the head waters of the Lievre river to go by lake and river and portage to Albany river. At James bay camping outfit and canoes were needed to enable the enumerators to take the population in Nipissing district just beyond the "Height of Land." Enumerators in Manitoba had now to foot it, now to go by buckboard and now by boat, and in one instance a man losing himself had to save his own life by slaying and eating his horse. Many townships in Algoma had to be taken by slow and toilsome pedestrians. For the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence a schooner had to be chartered, enumerators put on board and dropped at different points till the straits of Belle Isle were reached, from which point the schooner was directed to the Isle of Anticosti, the census of which having been taken the schooner returned to the straits and sailed along the coast, picking up the enumerators and returning to the mouth of the Saguenay river.

The results of the census and comparisons with those of 1881 are these:

1st—The urban population of Canada shows an increase of 377,927 souls, equal to an increase of 38.2 per cent.

2nd—Several groups show the following increases: Cities and towns over 5,000 inhabitants, 40.8 per cent; towns over 3,000 inhabitants, 40.9 per cent; villages over 1,500 inhabitants, 22.2 per cent.

3rd—In 1891 there were 47 cities with population of over 5,000 against 35 in 1881, an increase of 12 in number.

4th—In 1891 there were 43 towns with a population of from 3,000 to 5,000 an increase of five over 1881.

5th—In 1891 there were 83 villages with a population from 1,500 to 3,000 and in 1881, they numbered 55, an increase of 28.

The total urban population is 1,030,250 in 1891; in 1881 it was 731,510.

AFFAIRS AT OTTAWA.

In the House Hon. Mr. Foster said he had received communication from the Governor-General confirming the statement made in the House a few days ago that the treaty between the United States and the West Indies did not go into force until June 30, 1892. In the meantime Canada will have the same advantages as the United States with those islands.

The House then went into committee on Mr. Dewdney's resolution respecting the granting of land subsidies to certain railways. Mr. Dewdney explained this was for the Red Deer Valley Railway and Coal Company. The location of the one had been changed and his resolution provides to transfer the grant from the old location to the new.

Mr. Mulock opposed the passing of the resolution till the House was assured of the company's ability and desire to complete the road. To his mind this company was a speculating one. He thought a safeguard should be placed on the release by way of fixing a maximum price at which freight should be carried.

Mr. John Thompson pointed out that the Railway Act fully provided for this. He read several clauses which said tolls could be fixed by the Governor in Council.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that, in his opinion, the company was made up of speculators. He demanded full particulars of the financial standing of the company before the resolution was passed.

Mr. Dewdney read a letter from a representative of the company stating the names and financial standing and reference of the company and telegrams from Alexander, of Calgary, giving further information as to the ability of the company to complete the work.

The committee then reported progress and the House went into supply.

In supply a number of Public Works items were passed, and the House adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1891.

GENERAL SUPT. WHYTE.

The General Superintendent of the C. P. R., during his recent visit to Prince Albert, was confronted with what certainly may be considered one of the most peculiar circumstances connected with the operation of a railway, and he must now undertake to devise means for overcoming the Red River cart competition in freight hauling his company are experiencing. The explanation given him by Mr. Agnew showing the profits he had made by going back to the cart system, must have fully demonstrated that the railway age had not as yet developed any material advantage to the business portion of our town. He must also have become satisfied that so long as his company allow such serious hardships as the above, and others including the disgraceful accommodation provided for these having business on their station premises here, to exist, the time for asking concessions on the part of the company is inopportune. The Town Council, Board of Trade and rate-payers generally, feel that the claims of the Railway Co. should receive the most liberal consideration, but liberal treatment must not be altogether one-sided. The company have certain claims, the town authorities will no doubt deal generously with them, but citizens too have claims, and the duty of the company under such circumstances should be to extend the same liberal consideration that they expect in their own interests. We feel satisfied Mr. Whyte's trip and the interviews he has had with some of our leading business men, will tend to cause speedy and liberal concessions being made on each side, and the spectacle of old Red River carts competing in a 250 mile haul, with a railway will never occur again in the history of the Territories.

FOR THE EXHIBITION.

The collecting of native grasses and grain in the sheaf for eastern exhibition purposes, is not progressing as rapidly as it should. The farmers generally are not taking that interest in the work which its importance demands. The consequence is that a few business men believing in the usefulness of such a display, are forced to undertake all the work and worry necessary to insure its success. Farmers are immediately interested in bringing the productiveness of our soil prominently before the people of eastern points, and could easily do so if they would only undertake to spend a very little time in assisting the committee in gathering together, without further delay, such grains and grasses as will go towards making the magnificent display it is possible for this district to make. Later on they could report with their samples of threshed grains, roots and the product of the dairy. By gathering the sheaf display without further delay, the committee will be placed in a position to go on with their arrangement at once, and then be ready to look after other classes as soon as they come, thus avoiding the unsatisfactory results which always follow when everything is rushed along only a day or so before the whole display must be shipped. We hope the farmers will act on this suggestion, and thereby do their legitimate share in calling attention to the wonderful productiveness of our district.

THE SASKATCHEWAN.

Our keenly moral friend the editor of the Saskatchewan has not yet taken sufficient interest in political morality to call attention to the iniquity of the transactions of certain members of the Quebec Government, which are now being investigated at Ottawa. Perhaps, having taken inspiration from his leaders, he would prefer that the investigation into the shady transactions of his political brothers should be blocked. Neither is his highly cultivated mind sufficiently developed to allow of his acting decently when similar charges against a political opponent are undergoing investigation. When such an occasion occurs, fair play is lost sight of, and just before Parliament must pass judgment, we find this honest editor who neglects to notice the blood-charges standing against his own friends, forgetting the services of a quarter of a century, during which long service no breath of scandal has ever been breathed against Sir Hector, in the vilest kind of a manner, undertaking to create a prejudice in connection with what every intelligent man believes will be Parliament's honest judgment of the case. Such conduct finds no place in honest journalism, neither is it the course men pursue when satisfied that every act of their own is above suspicion. The language which has attracted this attention smacks of the dirt, and could only emanate from a disgruntled manager of an absorbed joint stock company.

PROF. SAUNDERS.

Owing to but part of a day's notice being given only a limited number had the advantage of listening to Prof. Saunders' lecture on Wednesday evening last. It was satisfactory to those present to hear from the professor that his day's drive had convinced him that the outside world had not yet learned nearly enough of the wonderful fertility of our soil and its adaptability for grain growing, some of our wheat fields being the finest he had ever seen. Another valuable feature, and one which is not general throughout the Territories, was pointed out in referring to our natural grasses nearly all of which he demonstrated as easy of extensive cultivation. This and his remarks on tree culture, and the choosing of seed grains etc., were all listened to with interest, and will no doubt be put to profitable use by many of those who were fortunate enough to have been present. The professor left by Thursday's train for the east, assuring us that he would make a longer visit next season.

Considerable quiet discussion has taken place lately with reference to the unsatisfactory state of the game ordinance and the destruction of young birds, which is so systematically carried on that in a few years a prairie chicken will be indeed a rara avis. We beg to call the attention of our future legislators to the above, and in the meanwhile, why does not some public-spirited sportsman call a meeting to discuss the subject, and organize a game protection society on the same lines as the Society in Winnipeg, and many settlements in the Territories.
